The Key

I have a key in my pocket.
I found it just yesterday.
This key must be for an adventure.
Where does it go to? Who can say?

Could be, it opens a treasure chest stuffed full of diamonds and gold?
And maybe it's buried in my yard
by fearless pirates, scary and bold.

Or maybe it opens a diary
with its secrets locked up for years,
and if I find it and read it,
I'll be famous and people will cheer.

I guess it could fit in a sports car.
I'd be too young to drive it right now,
but I'd hide it away till I'm older,
when I drive it, my friends will say WOW.

What if it unlocks a castle with hungry crocodiles out in a moat?
I could paddle around and feed them from my safe castle-guarding boat.

My adventures can go on forever
If I just hang onto this key.
I don't have to know what it opens.
It's more fun to just make believe.

Fantastic Friends

The Incredible Hulk came to tea.
Robin was with him too,
Batman stayed at home that night
Because his bat had flu.

Superman called to say hello
And Spiderman spun us a joke.
Dynamite Sue was supposed to come
But she went up in smoke.

The Invisible Man might have called,
But as I wasn't sure,
I left an empty chair and bun
Beside the kitchen door.

They signed my autograph book.
But I dropped it in the fire.
I tell my friends
I'm a terrible liar.

(I do call round
(I'm alone)
and I get bored,
I call them on the phone.
