

169 Amazon Rainforest Creatures Thirty Two Posters

Rainforest Animals by Melih Goldish

Where can you find a toucan?
In the rainforest you can!
High up on a limb is where it can be seen with the monkey and parrot.
Squirrels leaping from tree to tree,
while bats go flying free!
There's a bee, mosquito, and moth.
Look up, there's a hanging sloth!
Down on the rainforest floor
are big and small creatures galore.
The antelope, deer, and hog,
plus termites and ants on a log.
Every day, hour by hour,
butterflies float on a flower.
Lizards and snakes also play
in rainforest plants all day.
Ocelots, jaguars, leopards -
The rainforest is a popular address.

Peccaries will eat small animals but they prefer eating roots, grass, seeds and fruit. They live in groups and babies are born in dens in hollow logs or in the ground. Usually two babies are born but there could be more. The babies are ready to travel with the group a day after birth.
