

Why?

Why is the sky?

What starts the thunder overhead?

Who makes the crashing noise?

Are the angels falling out of bed?

Are they looking for their toys?

Why does the sun go down so soon?

Why do the night clouds crawl

Hungrily up to the new laid moon

And swallow it shell and all?

Does every star that happens to fall

Turn into a firefly?

Can't it get back to the sky at all?

And why?

Why is the sky?
